A Poem for Today

THE LOST LEADER

By Robert Browning

ROBERT BROWNING wrote this poem in a spirit of fervid republicanism when he was thirty years old. Wordsworth, to whom there is reference in the verses, was in his youth an ardent republican, but later became a Tory and accepted a position as stamp distributor under the government. He was also posthumously a few years. Browning was anxious to express his resentment at what he considered Wordsworth's defection from the cause of liberty.

JUST for a handful of silver he left us,
Just for a riband to stick in his coat—
Found the one gift of which fortune bereft us,
Lost all the others she lets us devote.
They, with the gold to give, doled him out silver;
So much was theirs who so little allowed,
How all our copper had gone for his service!
Rags, were they purple, his heart had been proud!
We, that had loved him so, followed him, honored him,
Lived in his mild and magnificent eye,
Learned his great language, caught his clear accents,
Made him our pattern to live and to die!
Shakespeare was of us, Milton was for us,
Burns, Shelley, were with us—they watch from their graves!
He alone breaks from the van and the frenzied,
He alone sinks to the rear and the slaves!
We shall march prospering—not through his presence;
Songs may inspire us—not from his lyre;
Deeds will be done, while he looms his presence,
Still bidding crouch whom the rest bade aspire.
Blot out his name, then; record one lost soul more,
One task more declined, one more footpath untrod,
One more devil's triumph and sorrow for angels,
One wrong more to man, one more insult to God!
Life's night begins. Let him never come back to us,
There would be doubt, hesitation and pain,
Forced praise on our part—the glimmer of twilight;
Never glad confident morning again!
Best fight on well—for we taught him—strike gallantly,
Menace our heart ere we master his own;
Then let him receive the new knowledge and wait us,
Pardoned in heaven, the first by the throne!

THE CHRISTMAS TREE.

O, the Christmas tree,
So bright and green,
awaits Old Santa Claus.
And the chimney place, all swept and clean, gaps wide its ponderous jaws. The little stockings are all hung up, and baby's just made four. Won't Old Santa Claus be surprised when he finds there is no more? There's an elegant place up in the tree to hang Johnny's gun, and a place for May, and one for Kate to leave their dolls upon. But for little baby blue eyes a lower branch he must choose, where she may reach and find the place he's hung her first new shoes. Turn down the light a little, now, so Old Santa Claus can see. And baby and all must go to bed, and be as good as good can be, and tomorrow morn get up early, after a long night's sleep, and come softly down to the Christmas tree, And see who gets the first peep.

ANOTHER DARING ASSAULT.

Miss Carpenter Brutally Attacked at Coconut Grove.—Bold Attempt at Crime Committed.

Close on the heels of the Suggs murder of Monday night, and within forty-eight hours thereafter, a vicious attack was made on Miss Daisy Carpenter, a well-known young lady at her own home in Coconut Grove, Wednesday evening.

Having occasion to step to the back porch of the residence, she paused a moment, and was alarmed to see a man step from behind a tree, not ten feet from where she was standing.

Before she could utter a syllable or call out, the man seized her and attempted to drag her off the porch.

At this she screamed, and her mother and sister who were within the house, and only a few feet away, came to her rescue.

The scoundrel, in the meantime, had pulled her a few feet away from the house, and in the struggle had torn the sleeve of her waist and almost demolished that garment.

Hearing the approach of her mother and sister the villain fled through the orange grove and disappeared.

Miss Carpenter suffered a severe shock from the ordeal and finally collapsed from the nervous effects of the fright received.

A posse has been out hunting for the assailant, but he cannot be found.

Will Build Houseboat.

Geo. P. Duncan, of Connecticut, Wednesday purchased from the Merchant's Bank a forty-foot boat, which he proposes to fit up and use as a houseboat. Mr. Duncan has had much experience with crafts of all kinds, and knows how to handle one in an expert manner.

Mr. Duncan recently sailed a launch up the St. John's River for over two hundred miles and he reports having encountered many attacks with the boat, the engine breaking down in numerous instances. Upon returning down the St. John's River, he sold the launch to Gay Brothers, of Palatka, at a considerable less than what he paid for it.

Mr. Duncan recently made a trip down the east coast, and he is charmed with the attractions of Daytona.

Wade H. Jones arrived in Daytona yesterday, from Titusville.

THE CHRISTMAS STOCKING.

As birds to sun-land wing their way in blithesome bovie and with song, so from the gift-hand, Christmas Day, flow tokens that life's joys prolong. The season's symbol, like a charm, wish and delight is interlocking; and plainest gifts the heart will warm be they but found within a stocking. Time can destroy the dearest whim; the sweetest joy age can bedim; but on life's way all love to pause each year a day with Santa Claus. Tho' heads be bowed with weight of years, and onward crowd life's saddening cares, the merrily turns at Christmas tide in grooves of childhood's joys to guide. Then hang the stockings—great and small: Our chimney-sprite will know them all! He reads the wish in every mind, and tries the wished-for toy to find. Yes! hang the stocking, young and old! Let Saint Nick's legends be retold! Let old heads play the Christmas parts, which prove that naught can age young hearts.

About The Daily News.

The Daily News desires the largest circulation obtainable, and to this end we are constantly endeavoring to get new subscribers.

The paper is printed in the afternoon about three o'clock, and is delivered to the most remote parts of the city before five o'clock.

In the evening the people have leisure time to read, and that is the reason why advertising in this paper pays.

We have said before that we want every local item obtainable, and it will be appreciated if the friends of this paper will either telephone us news notes or give them to our reporter.

PALMETTO CLUB MEETS.

Birds Was the Subject of a Very Interesting Meeting Held Thursday at the Daytona Opera House.

The second meeting of the Palmetto club was held yesterday in the Opera House. The program for the afternoon was called "Bird Day," and was opened by a flute obligato, "Pretty Birds," by Mr. Sengstak, which was loudly encored and to which he graciously responded with a "Bird Song."

The first paper was "Birds," by Mrs. Annie C. Jones, which was listened to attentively and received many compliments. Miss Elizabeth Wood then sang in her sweet clear voice, "The Bird and the Rose," accompanied by Mrs. Bohannon; the encore was Noddinger's "Robin," which was also very sweetly rendered. The next was a paper on "Extinct Birds of Florida," by Dr. Edith R. Brush, in which she described several birds that are seen no more, closing with the Pink Curlew, whose plumage has been used for millinery purposes until it has become, like the White Heron, almost extinct. It was a very fine paper. The program closed with a flute obligato by Mr. Sengstak, accompanied by Miss Robinson.

Miss Gail Moore is here from school to spend the holidays with relatives.

James J. Hennessey, of Palatka, is spending today in Daytona.

A Poem for Today

TRUE FREEDOM, AND HOW TO GAIN IT

By Charles Mackay

We want no flag, no shouting rag.
For Liberty to fight;
We want no blaze of murderous guns
To struggle for the right.
Our spears and swords are printed words,
The mind our battle plain.
We've won such victories before,
And so we shall again.

We love no triumph sprung of force—
They stain her brightest cause,
'Tis not in blood that Liberty
Inscribes her civil laws.
She writes them on the people's heart
In language clear and plain.
True thoughts have moved the world before,
And so they shall again.

We yield no more in earnest love
Of freedom's cause sublime;
We join the cry, "Fraternity!"
We keep the march of time.
And yet we grasp nor pike nor spear
Our victories to obtain.
We've won without their aid before,
And so we shall again.

We want no aid of barricade
To show a front to wrong;
We have a citadel in truth
More durable and strong.
Calm words, great thoughts, unflinching faith,
Have never striven in vain.
They've won our battles many a time,
And so they shall again.

Peace, progress, knowledge, brotherhood—
The ignorant may sneer,
The bad deny, but we rely
To see their triumph near.
No widows' groans shall load our cause,
No blood of brethren slain.
We've won without such aid before,
And so we shall again.

Gloves, Neckwear, Suspenders, Handkerchiefs,

all useful, and will be appreciated by your friends Christmas.

Kindergarten Xmas Exercises.

The Christmas tree exercises of Miss Harris' Kindergarten took place this morning on Orange avenue, between the hours of ten and eleven o'clock.
The tree reached the top of the room, and was artistically decorated by the little tots, as assisted by Miss Harris.

Present at the exercises, were the mothers of the happy little children, and they had prepared Christmas tokens that were exceedingly dainty,

A Handsome Confectionary Store.

Undoubtedly the prettiest confectiontona, is the place of J. A. Shanks and Son, which yesterday opened for busi-enterprising one, and that they will do a large business as soon as they are again fully established.

The front portion is devoted to a fine line of goods, with a handsome soda

Hathaway. They are for the present located at the Hotel England in the city, but in January they will be the second to remain a portion of the season.

the attention of the world to the big new corner, which Daytona is proud to have. He was a welcome arrival at the Daily News station this morning, and spoke encouraging words for the town, and said that many improvements had been made since his last visit here. He predicts that Daytona will have a popula-

Industrial School For Colored Girls.

Editorial Daily News.
A move in the right direction is the industrial school for colored girls in Daytona, a school of Daytona, conducted by a colored woman, Mrs. Bellman, who has now for a year maintained the school by her efforts, and with very light aid and encouragement. The industrial side of the institution is to be taught sewing, and such other work as is necessary for a girl to be able to earn a living, and in fact, to be able to be competent and confident when a school of the same kind is required in the south today. They are also taught the elements of an education in English also.

Mrs. Bellman is a woman of strong character, she demonstrated that she is possessed of marked ability and is a most competent, as evidenced by the number in which she has maintained the enterprise to this date. She should be taught by both white and black to the extent of their ability for open work and industrial work of the same kind. These people should be taught the school and encouraged it as a very wise policy of the state.

Industrial School For Colored Girls.

Editor Daily News:
A move in the right direction is the industrial school for colored girls in Midway, a suburb of Daytona, conducted by a colored woman, Mrs. Bethune, who has now for a year maintained the
school by her efforts and with very slight aid and encouragement.

The dominant idea of the instructor is to take young negro girls and teach them to cook, sew, care for a kitchen and the rooms of a house, do a neat job of laundry work, and in fact to learn to be competent and courteous house servant;
a class of servants much required in the South today. They are also taught the rudiments of an education in English

Mrs. Bethune is a woman of strong aided by both white and black to the system of education depends the future the school and recommend it as in every way worthy of aid. C. L. Smith.

A Poem for Today

CHANGED

By Henry Wadsworth Longfellow

THIS was written by Longfellow after a visit to the Santa City of Santa Fe. The scene of the poem is a fine little adobe building overlooking the river. A favorite resort of the poet in his youth.

FROM the entrance of the town, Where the old adobe stands, Now a stranger, looking down, Sees the river, and the town, Of the old and better world.

Is it changed or am I changed? All the while are from the town, But the friends with whom I ranged Through their thickets are changed By the years that intervene.

Right as ever flows the sea, Right as ever flows the town, But, alas, they need to be, Not the same that used to be, Not the same that used to be.

DAYTONA AND ITS ATTRACTIONS.

DAYTONA is situated upon the west bank of the Halifax River at its farthest expanse and midway between the source at Bulow Bay and its outlet at Mosquito Inlet. It is in latitude 29, seventy-four miles from St. Augustine and one mile from the Atlantic Ocean, and is acknowledged to be without a rival for beauty among the villages of the South. Its site is upon what is known as high hammock land that was crowned by nature with a most royal growth of majestic forest trees, and among these trees is the town of today, with its beautiful cottages and well-graded walks and streets. The result is that all along the wide avenues that intersect the town are lovely live and water oaks and hickories, many of them draped with graceful festoons of the gray Spanish moss, that overarch the street and walks, and among these are interspersed tall tropical palmettos, glossy-leaved magnolias, fragrant bays and coral-berried holly, and many other varieties, while in many places the wild grapes, the trumpet vine and the anemone-like climber and clinging among the branches forming shady bowers and adding grace and beauty.

The town lies parallel with the Halifax River, and extends for nearly two miles along the shore. This river is the delight of the angler and the yachtsman and forms one of the town's greatest attractions.

The main avenues that run parallel with or intersect the river are all 100 feet wide, except Beach street, which is about sixty-five feet, but has a half-mile of open, beautiful water abutting upon its eastern side, where the salt waves ebb and flow and along and across which comes the cooling, invigorating and health-giving breezes from off the wide Atlantic, which temper and render the Halifax climate one of the most perfect in the world. Daytona has many miles of well-graded, macadamized and shell roads and streets, rendering it the

and added to these, but a mile away, are thirty miles of smooth, hard beach, that affords an unrivalled course for long-distance cycling and driving or automobile racing. No town of equal size, north or south, numbers so many wheelmen, and cycling is a favorite pastime with the tourists summer and winter.

The Beautiful Cottages

that have been erected during the past years and are being built are rendering Daytona as famous for its fine homes as for its beautiful river, trees and avenues, and they are adding yearly to its attractions.

Not the least of these attractions to those seeking homes in the South, and ranking second only to healthfulness and perfection of climate, is the fact that its population is chiefly composed of cultivated and intelligent people, accustomed to the refinements of home and social life. Added to these features are good churches, good public and private schools, stores, hotels, laundry, meat markets, novelty works, an opera house, electric lights for street and house illumination, a good telephone system, ice factory, Lily Water Works, and hot and cold baths, etc., and everything else can be procured that is necessary to make life comfortable. An important feature in the healthfulness of this town is the

which is derived from numerous flowing wells, of which there are probably 300 in the corporate limits. This flow is secured by boring wells to the depth of from 80 to 120 feet, passing through several strata of rock, and this depth assures purity from all surface contamination. The water is slightly impregnated with magnesia and iron, and holds sulphur in the shape of gas, which soon passes away.

The Population of Daytona proper is about 1,800. Added to this is a suburban population on main shore and peninsula of about 1,000 at Kingston, Blake, Old Seabreeze or Goodall, Seabreeze and Silver Beach, which are properly a part of the town and population.

Daytona Beach

lies one mile east of the town. It is approached by three good bridges over the river and well-graded avenues, and is the principal summer resort south of St. Augustine. It has more tourists during the summer than all other places south of that city combined, and is also becoming a favorite winter resort. The beach is wide, firm and smooth, by many considered the finest in the world, and the surf bathing is safe and excellent summer and winter. People who have tried Northern and Western summer resorts declare that there are none so perfect in comfort as Daytona beach.

Automobile Race Meet.

The Florida East Coast Automobile Association conducts an annual race meet on the beach, which has now a universal reputation as the greatest automobile race course in the world. The Daytona-Ormond Beach is hard as macadam, and an ideal stretch of thirty or more miles without a break makes it the natural racing ground for America.

At low tide the beach is bare for 300 feet and neither carriage wheel, bicycle or pedestrian can make a hardly visible imprint on the smooth and well-packed sand. It is no uncommon sight to see sail-rigged bicycles speeding with the velocity of the wind before a stiff breeze along the smooth beach, thus affording the most exhilarating sport known to man. Besides these, miles of hard-shelled, palm fringed boulevards bring the lovers of the wheel and vehicles into direct touch with the mainland over the broad bridges which span the splendid Halifax River.

The beach from the sandy bluffs to the lowest point at ebbside, measures about 500 feet, and the average depth of the surf measures about two feet. A continuous gentle swell rolls in from the ocean from one to two feet in depth under normal conditions, making the beach an attractive and absolutely safe place for surf bathing. Here the infant as well as the grey-haired veteran of many summers, can safely enjoy the luxury of a sea bath throughout the larger part of the year, while the strong and expert swimmer, can venture out further to test his strength and skill in battling with the inexhaustible powers of the mighty ocean.

The Peninsula

lying between river and ocean is one half mile wide, and is being rapidly improved, and there are many fine cottages and several good hotels, an opera house, two ocean piers, beach pavilion and a large casino.

A Remarkable Feature

at Daytona has been the yearly improvement in the style and value of the buildings that are being erected for homes. Men of capital of the North and West have become awakened to its advantages for winter residences, and valuable lots are being purchased and costly houses, beautiful in design and finish, are being erected, and beautiful homes, the abodes of wealth and culture are multiplying.

Seabreeze (City Beautiful) and Goodall are settlements on the Ocean side of the peninsula across the Halifax River from Daytona.

At the foot of Ocean Boulevard, Seabreeze, a pier reaches 600 feet across the beach into the swelling surf of the ocean. This pier is a favorite resort of those who delight in the sport of fishing. The surf here abounds in trout, pompano, yellowtail, cavale, whiting, drum, sheepshead and many other varieties of edible fish. During the fall season the famous sea bass affords royal sport, and it has been no uncommon occurrence to land a thousand pounds of this gamey fish in an afternoon, individuals of them ranging from fifteen to thirty-five pounds in weight. Not only does the ocean offer this splendid sport but the Halifax River, only half a mile back of the ocean, is equally famous for its fine fishing, and the varieties that abound in the ocean are present in the river.

Hunting and fishing good. Experienced guides and dogs may be had at reasonable prices.

Low Tide on the Beach.

Tides.
The following is given in brief as the theory most generally entertained by scientists, with a few exceptions, concerning tides: It is assumed that the moon, acting alone, would not only raise a wave on the side of the earth nearest to it by gravitation, but would also draw the earth itself far enough out of its course to leave behind some of the water on the farther side, which water would then be raised relatively to the earth's surface and constitute the second tidal wave. The sun alone would act similarly, although its tide raising effect is only about two-fifths that of the moon. Now, at new moon the sun and moon "pull together" and give higher tides than at the first and third quarters, when the sun draws its right angles to the line of the moon's attraction, and at full moon, when the sun is on the opposite side of the earth from the moon, virtually the same effect is observed as at new moon, but the double tide raising action of the sun would again be superimposed on that of the moon and give tides on opposite sides as high as those at fortnight before.

A Poem for Today

CHANGED

By Henry Wadsworth Longfellow

THIS was written by Longfellow after a visit to his native city of Portland, Me. The scene of the poem is a fine hillside outside the town overlooking the cove, a favorite resort of the poet in his youth.

FROM the outskirts of the town,
Where the old millstone stood,
Now a stranger, looking down
I behold the shadowy crown
Of the dark and haunted wood.

Is it changed or am I changed?
Ah, the oaks are fresh and green!
But the friends with whom I ranged Through their thickets are estranged
By the years that intervene.

Bright as ever flows the sea,
Bright as ever shines the sun,
But, alas, they seem to me
Not the sun that used to be,
Not the tides that used to run.
